NOTICE OF PUBLICITY OF LAWSUIT IN CHINA BY DEFENDANTS

Plaintiffs hereby notify the Court that Defendants have publicized this case in China. A machine created English translation of an article from the Chinese website www.sellerdefense.cn (“SellerDefense”) is attached hereto as Exhibit 1. As stated thereon, the article has been viewed 177 times since publication. At the bottom of page 13/20 of Exhibit 1, a QR code appears which provides Defendants with direct access to a private group discussion on this lawsuit.¹

SellerDefense is a China-based website through which Chinese sellers communicate and share information about various U.S.-based law firms, the on-line anti-counterfeiting lawsuits they file, and their approaches to litigation. The information provided in the article includes the existence of the lawsuit; that accounts and listings have been suspended; and background and analysis. To date, since the lawsuit has not yet been served on the Defendants, no Court Name, Location, Docket Number or Defendant Names, have been published.

¹ Pages 15 – 20 have been omitted from Exhibit 1 as these pages contain advertisements and links to unrelated lawsuits.

The financial institutions and online marketplaces used by the Defendants have been provided with a copy of the Temporary Restraining Order (“TRO”). Before yesterday (July 27, 2020), only Aliexpress.com confirmed to Plaintiff’s Counsel that it had complied with the TRO.² However, one of the Defendants selling on Amazon had contacted Plaintiff’s counsel by email. Thereafter Exhibit 1 appeared on SellerDefense.

Respectfully submitted,

Highlights.

- 1) Bacon Bin is a literal trademark that cannot be used directly, and if it is a similar product, there is a great risk of separating two words in the same title.
- 2) In addition to Bacon Bin, the plaintiffs have registered other written trademarks, which will be the scope of future rights protection by the law firm.
- 3) Bacon Bin's images are copyrighted and the direct use of the images constitutes infringement.
- 4) Plaintiff company brand is numerous, can be on the official website for search and view.

Case analysis.

Ference law firm has previously represented the dog grinding stick, mainly to see the infringement of product sales and frozen amount, the settlement requirements are reasonable, will not suddenly lion big opening.

As the case is still hidden, so the current list of defendants and other information can not be viewed.
